Children and young people are the future of the horse industry and any child who is involved should be able to participate in a fun and safe environment, and be protected from harm. There is no doubt that involvement with horses and ponies, be it in a sporting or leisure context, can have a very powerful and positive influence on young people.

British Equestrian (BEF) places the highest priority on safety and enjoyment; it recognises that it has a duty of care towards children within the horse industry. The Safeguarding for Equestrians workshop outlines the roles and responsibilities that The British Horse Society and other BEF member bodies have in their duty of care towards young people and promotes good practice within the horse industry. Right now, hundreds of horses are being rescued from a life of mistreatment, cruelty, and neglect. Our Second Chance project rehomes horses who have suffered an unhappy past, giving them a second chance to rest, recover and rediscover a better life at one of our BHS Approved Centres. Our centres are home to BHS-qualified professionals who are equipped with the understanding, patience, skills, and knowledge needed to assist and rehabilitate those horses in desperate need.

Without your help and our brilliant riding schools, these horses face an uncertain future.

Donate today to help give neglected horses a second chance here.
